

TEXTBOOKS THAT "ADD UP" TO GREAT CHOICES FOR THE LATIN CLASSROOM

BC Latin Readers' relatively small size (covering 500–600 lines) makes them ideal to use in combination.

How did the Romans see themselves and their culture? Roman comedy and satire give us tantalizing clues. Introduce students to two genres and six authors (2 comic playwrights + 4 satirists) they'll not soon forget.

+

+

=

Cultural Consciousness and Commentary, from Republic to Empire

A Terence Reader by William S. Anderson

xvii + 110 pp. (2009) 5" x 7.75" Paperback, ISBN 978-0-86516-678-3

A Plautus Reader by John Henderson

xviii + 182 pp. (2009) 5" x 7.75" Paperback, ISBN 978-0-86516-694-3

A Roman Verse Satire Reader by Catherine C. Keane

xxvi + 142 pp. (2010) 5" x 7.75" Paperback, ISBN 978-0-86516-685-1

Give students an introduction to how views of history are constructed by having them sample two commentators on the events of the Roman Republic whose distinctive approaches will stimulate rousing discussions about what, exactly, is "history."

+

=

Two Voices on Roman Republican History

A Lucan Reader by Susanna Braund

xxxiv + 134 pp. (2009) 5" x 7.75" Paperback, ISBN 978-0-86516-661-5

A Sallust Reader by Victoria Pagan

xlvi + 162 pp. (2010) 5" x 7.75" Paperback, ISBN 978-0-86516-687-5

Five are now available. Fifteen additional Readers are planned for 2010 and beyond. Check <http://bolchazy.com/readers> for more information.

BOLCHAZY-CARDUCCI PUBLISHERS, INC.
www.BOLCHAZY.com • www.LNM.BOLCHAZY.com

1570 Baskin Road
Mundelein, IL 60060
Phone: (847) 526-4344
Fax: (847) 526-2867